

The Bold Fisherman
(There was a bold fisherman...)

1. There was a bold fish - er - man who sailed out from Pim - li - co To
 2. He wrig - gled and scrig - gled in the wat - ers so brin - y - o. He
 3. His ghost walked at mid - - night by the bed - side of his Mar - y Jane. When he slew the wild cod - - fish and the bold mack - er - - el.

 yell - owed and bell - - owed for help, but in vain.
 told her how dead he was, said she, "I'll go mad. If

When he got to Pim - li - co the storm - y winds be - gan to blow, And his Down - ward he did gent - ly glide to the bot - tom of the sil - very tide, And my love is so dead," said she, "no joy on earth can ev - er be And I lit - tle boat went wib - ble - wob - ble, ov - er - board went he. Sing - ing prev - ious - ly to this he cried, "Fare thee well, ___ Mar - y Jane." Sing - ing nev - er more will hap - py be." She went ___ rav - ing mad. Sing - ing

"Twink - - a doo - - - dle dum, twink - - a doo - - - dle dum,"

'Twas a high - - ly in - - ter - - est - - ing song he sung.

"Twink - a doo - dle dum, twink - a doodle," Sang the bold fish - er - - man.